Gen. 194 e.

555-B

The condition as it stands is capable of the interpretation put upon it by the Director of Industries in his letter at page 39 of the correspondence section. Government's intention appears to be that irrespective of the fact whether the additional labour is or is not employed by the owner of the factory on account of the extension, housing accommodation for sixty per cent of the labour engaged on manufacture in the extended p-remises should be provided. The Chief factor in claculating the sixty per cent of the labour would consist in knowing how many labourers will be actually working on manufacture in the extended premises.

A revised draft condition is accordingly sent ~~xx~~ herewith.
